

If the NAB and it's affilated stations put the type of quality programing on the air that XM does, they might have a legitament complaint. But the don't and never will